

Hello and welcome to Greencore

We're delighted you're joining us on our journey to be a fast growing leader in convenience food. Helping you get the best start to your career with us is important, so we have dedicated your first few days to helping you settle in. You can expect to make lots of connections, take part in activities and enjoy what we're famous for - our great food.

HERE'S WHAT'S IN STORE

- Your first day will be focused on settling in, meeting colleagues and finding your way around your new site. You'll get to know all about The Greencore Way and the colleague benefits you're entitled to.
- Then we will give you the knowledge to ensure you're well equipped to do your role, including teaching you more about health and safety, food safety and the environment.
- Beyond that, depending on your role you'll also have time with your new manager and colleagues and training to help you be successful. This may be shadowing or working with a buddy, learning new tasks or taking part in training events.

We're rather proud of our approach to induction and helping you get the best out of your first days with us. Here is what some of our new starters have to say about it:

'It's the best induction I've ever been on'

'A great atmosphere'

'Energising, upbeat, packed full of fun activities'

'I liked the mix of activities, videos, games and reading, good pace too'

WE LOOK FORWARD TO MEETING YOU SOON!
