All,

Whilst we navigate through a period of uncertainty with the current outbreak of coronavirus, we are only progressing with business-critical recruitment at Greencore, to ensure we continue to keep Britain fed.

We recognise that in the current climate with varying demand across our sites, that this may create opportunities for secondments or permanent moves for our colleagues across Greencore. We have therefore taken the decision to advertise all vacancies internally for one week before considering any external applications (if you're furloughed and want to talk to us about one of these roles, please just reply to this e-mail or call your site HR team).

This vacancy communication will provide details of all our current salaried and weekly paid vacancies across our sites.
